Contract of Air transportation

Transportation of Passengers and Baggage on flights operated by Salam Air, SAOC (Carrier), carriers doing business for SalamAir, and other carriers operating as Salam Air's Codeshare partner (collectively "United Carriers") are subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Contract of Carriage, in addition to any terms and conditions printed on or in any ticket, ticket jacket or e-ticket receipt.

By purchasing a ticket or accepting transportation, the passenger agrees to be bound thereby. By purchasing this ticket, the passenger accepts these terms and conditions. The passenger confirms their acceptance of self and luggage transportation as a result of accepting such terms and conditions.

The ticket cannot be issued or printed out without reading and accepting these terms by clicking on the "I agree" icon on the system. The passenger is totally free to accept or reject such terms and conditions before finalizing the Contract of transportation.

Terms & Conditions:

This contract includes the below terms and conditions for the Passenger/Sender revision and acceptance before finalizing the Contract of Transportation. The Passenger/Sender admits that they had carefully read the terms and conditions and agreed to them. The Passenger/Sender agrees that such terms and conditions control the whole relationship between them and the Carrier.

Such terms and conditions include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Limits on liability for flights' delays in departure or arrival as well as delays, damage, or loss of baggage. Including fragile or perishable goods in accordance with the Montreal Convention 1999 and CAA regulations SEP 2024.
- Claims restrictions, including time periods within which a passenger/sender must file a claim or bring an action against the Carrier.
- The Carrier's right to change the terms of the Contract of Transportation.
- Rules of reservation reconfirmation, check-in times, and cancellation.
- The rules and terms of the restricted tickets.
- The Carrier's rights and limits on liability for delay or failure to perform service, including schedule changes, passengers' transfer to another carrier, and rerouting.

First: Arbitration

The Parties agree that in the event of any dispute or conflict between the Passenger/Sender and the Carrier in respect of any matter or dispute related to this contract of Transportation or its implementation or the consequences of non-compliance with it or the extent of Carrier's liability or the united carriers, the parties shall make their best efforts to resolve the matter amicably within seven working days.

If they do not reach a solution that satisfies both of them, the matter shall be referred to Arbitration in accordance with the laws in force in the Sultanate of Oman. The arbitral tribunal shall be composed of one arbitrator. The place of Arbitration shall be Muscat, Sultanate of Oman. The arbitration shall be in English. The Arbitrator should apply the provisions of the Montreal Convention 1999 and CAA regulations SEP 2024 in addition to the applicable legislation in the Sultanate of Oman. If this ticket is restricted according to the applicable legislation on the paid fare, a limitation or more might be applied, including but not limited to one of the following procedures on passenger' travel:

- 1 - The ticket is non-refundable but can be replaced with another one that meets all the standards of the original ticket (including paying any difference in price).
- 2 - Replacement and cancellation fees may apply.
- 3 - The selected tickets might not be eligible for recovering funds or changing them even for a fee.
- 4 - Some tickets have no valid value and cannot be used to buy a future ticket.
- 5 - Some tickets may be restricted to certain flights, certain times, and a minimum or maximum limit for using the return ticket.
- 6 - SalamAir company and the United Carriers reserve the right to:

(a) Refuse the travel of any person who obtained a ticket that violated any value, laws, or special regulations of SalamAir and its united

(b) s or violated any national, federal, or valid legal local order.

(c) Change or modify any of the contract terms and conditions with or without notifying the registered passengers.

Fifth: Total compensation

Total compensation that can be gained from the Carrier and its agents with responsibility limitations should not exceed the limits stated in the Montreal Convention or CAA regulations SEP 2024 where applicable.

Sixth: Claim procedures

- The Addressee should confirm to the Carrier immediately after figuring out the defect, then send written notice within 7 days at most for checked baggage and 14 days for sent cargo from the day of receipt.
- The Addressee should confirm the Carrier in case of delay once figured out, then send written notice within 21 days at the most from the day of receipt.
- In all cases, the notices must all be in writing as a note on the carriage documentation upon the cargo' delivery or registered letter to be sent to the Carrier at the legal date.
- According to Article 31 of the Montreal Convention, if the warning had not been issued during the deadlines identified above, no liability case should be accepted against the Carrier.
- The right of compensation shall be waived if the litigation had not been brought within 2 years from the delivery date to the destination point, the date on which the aircraft was expected to arrive, or the date on which the transportation process had stopped.

Seventh: Cargo terms and conditions

The below-mentioned terms and conditions will be applied to the airborne cargo by the Carrier. Such terms and conditions prevail on other agreements or understandings made between the sender and the carrier unless they are in conflict with applicable law or valid international convention.

- The sender is obligated to comply with all customs procedures, police, and other public authorities and also to provide documentation that shows the nature of the cargo. Such a condition does not establish an obligation, duty, or responsibility on the Carrier out of this.
- The Sender is responsible for the accuracy of the data and statements of cargo recorded by him/her or on his/her behalf in air transportation documentation or provided by him/her or on his/her behalf to the Carrier to be written in the delivery of goods or included in the records established on further means. This condition is also applied when the person representing the Sender and the Carrier's agent are the same.
- The Sender must provide all necessary information and documents to complete customs procedures, police, and other public authorities before delivering the goods to the addressee. The Sender is responsible for addressing the Carrier of any damage arising from the unavailability, invalidity, and inadequacy of this information or documents if the damage is not to the Carrier's fault or its agents or dependents. It must be taken into consideration that the Carrier is not obliged to check the validity and adequacy of these information and documents.
- The written data on air cargo documentation or goods receipt on the weight of goods, its dimensions, and its packaging, as well as the data of package number, are considered to be proof to be invoked unless proved otherwise by the sender. The data of goods quantity, size, and status has no power against the Carrier unless the Carrier itself had checked it out in the presence of the sender and proved that in air cargo documentation or goods receipt, as these data are related to the appearance of goods.
- If the carriage requires the part of the carrier to make special preparations, the sender must notify the Carrier of that with sufficient notice. The carrier has the right to open the packages prior to delivery to check the validity of the data stated by the sender.
- The sender compensates the Carrier for all damages caused to it or any person to whom the Carrier is liable for what he/she has provided or what has been provided on his/her behalf of incorrect, improper, and incomplete data and acknowledgments.
- The data recorded in air transportation documentation or delivery of goods is related to goods dimensions, weight, and packing;. This also goes for the number of packages as proof to be protested against unless otherwise proven by the Sender. The data of cargo quantity, size, and case cannot be protested against the Carrier only to the extent that the Carrier had already checked in the

Second: Advice to international passengers on carrier liability

Passengers on flights involving an ultimate destination or a stop in a country other than the country of departure are advised that international conventions known as the Montreal Convention 1999, Chicago Convention 1944, and Warsaw Convention with their regulations, including their amendments, may apply to the entire flight, including any portion thereof within a country. For such passengers, the convention, special contracts of transportation may limit the liability of the Carrier with respect to death or injury to passengers and for loss, delay, or damage of passengers and baggage.

Third: Luggage requirements

The below-mentioned terms and conditions will be applied to the luggage which Carrier got from the passenger and registered in its systems, then gave the passenger a receipt with it. Such terms and conditions prevail on any other agreement or understanding done between the sender and the Carrier unless they are in conflict with an applicable law or valid international convention.

- The Carrier is fully or partially exempt from its responsibility towards the luggage as long as the Carrier proves that the caused damage is a result of the passenger's carelessness and fault. This article applies to all responsibilities, terms, and conditions in this document.
- The Carrier is not liable for the loss of money, jewelry, and other precious things entrusted to it only as long as the Sender provides a written document that proves so.
- The Carrier is not responsible for the damage in case of loss and damage to the checked luggage if it is caused by inherent flaws in the luggage. to
- The passenger has the right to ask the Carrier for the rights arising from this contract if the Carrier confirms the luggage is damaged or if it didn't arrive within 21 days from the expected delivery date.
- The passenger has the right to ask the Carrier for the rights arising from this contract if the Carrier confirms the luggage is damaged or if it didn't arrive within 21 days from the expected delivery date.
- The Carrier is not responsible for any damage caused to the luggage possessed by the passenger's custody, including hand baggage or all the items which travelers keep while traveling.
- The Carrier is not responsible if the damage to luggage attributed if it was caused by any of the below reasons:
 - (a) Inherent flaws in the luggage.
 - (b) Poor packing by anyone other than the Carrier or its agents.
 - (c) War, armed conflict, hooliganism, flood implications, or any other force majeure conditions.
 - (d) Proceedings conducted by public authorities regarding the entry and exit of goods.
- Taking delivery by the addressee/Passenger without protesting is considered evidence of the perfect condition of the Baggage.
- Each passenger is permitted to carry check-in luggage as follows:
 - 1. One piece upto 30k.
 - 2. Two pieces upto 40kg and above.
- (a) Please ensure that each individual piece of luggage weighs a maximum of 32kgs with a total dimension not exceeding 160cms (W+D+L) and that passengers' details are clearly labeled (name & contact details).
- (b) Any luggage that is irregularly sized will be refused at check-in.

Fourth: Exception to responsibility for the delay

- The Carrier is not responsible for any damage arising from flights and cargo' delays if it proves that the Carrier and its agents took all the necessary measures to avoid the damage, or it was impossible for them to take such measures.
- The Carrier is not responsible for the damage arising from the delay if the contracted ticket with the passenger is one of the restricted or discounted tickets.
- All Economic regulations issued by CAA, issued in December 2024, regarding the limited liability on delays shall apply.

presence of the Sender and proved that in the documentation of air transportation, delivery of goods, or to the extent that these data are related to the apparent conditions of the goods.

- If the Carriage on the part of the Carrier requires making special preparations, the Sender must inform the Carrier of that before sufficient time. The Carrier may ask to open the packages before delivering them to check the validity of the data the Sender mentioned.
- The Sender compensates the Carrier for any damages caused to it or to any person who could be responsible as a result of what the passenger had submitted to it or on its behalf, including the improper, incorrect, and incomplete statements and acknowledgments.
- The addressee has the right to ask the Carrier for the rights arising from the contract of carriage only if the Carrier confirms damage to the cargo or if it didn't arrive before the expiration of 7 days from the expected day of cargo delivery.

Eighth: Completion of travel procedures

All passengers are requested to arrive at the airport well in advance for their flights, clear all check-in and immigration procedures, and be present at the SalamAir assigned departure gates on time. SalamAir does not bear any responsibility for any passenger who is delayed in boarding the aircraft due to check-in, immigration delays, missing travel documents, or a no-show at departure gates.

1 - Check-in: We request all passengers to arrive at the departure airport at least 4 hours before the departure time mentioned in the ticket to complete travel procedures. Our check-in counters assigned for all our domestic and international flights close 60 minutes before the departure time mentioned in the ticket. Early check-in ensures you a smooth and comfortable travel experience. 2- Presence at the departure gate: Passengers are requested to be present at the SalamAir assigned departure gate at least 60 minutes before departure time mentioned in the ticket. Please be aware that the gates for all flights close 20 minutes before the scheduled time of departure.

3 - Travel documents: Given the continuous change in travel requirements to destinations, we request passengers to verify the required travel documents needed to enter the destination from the country or official authorities. Providing all required travel documents is the sole responsibility of the passenger; and the airline does not bear any responsibility if the passenger is denied boarding due to the unavailability of these documents.

4 - Baggage and bags: We request our passengers to avoid carrying weights exceeding the limit mentioned in the ticket to avoid any additional costs at the airport.

Ninth: Restricted baggage items

For your safety and in compliance with international regulations, we place some restrictions on the items you can carry in your hand or cabin baggage.

To prevent delays for you and other passengers, we ask that items that may cause injury or do not comply with security or safety guidelines for carriage in your cabin baggage be placed in your checked-in baggage. These items should be appropriately packed for carriage as checked baggage in accordance with the International Air Transport Association's (IATA) Dangerous Goods regulations and relevant local regulations.

For more information, please check the SalamAir website regarding "Restricted baggage items."
